Global Market and Ukraine

Someone is waiting for miracle-working vaccine, someone for mirific disappearance of the virus. People always for miracle. What should the miller wait for taking into account that 2019 was bad for both Ukrainian and global markets? Quite strange heading, as it seems at first. However, it is easy to explain - the world is waiting for miraculous changes in the new year, after shocked brought by COVID-19 last year

Turkish Flour Export and Grain Markets

With the first effects of Covid-19, flour exports have decreased slightly since March 2020 compared to last year. In June, July, August, and September, when the Covid-19 pandemic started to lose its intense effect, flour exports started to rise again in terms of both quantity and value.

Grain Exports/Экспорт зерн

Наращивание объемов экспорта зерновых крупными компаниями, базирующимися в глубоководных портах Черноморского побережья, сопровождается сокращением отгрузок зерновых грузов небольшими компаниями из малых портов Азовского бассейна. Это превращает Азовские порты из самостоятельных экспортных отправных пунктов в одно из звеньев цепочки поставок в зарубежные страны. Вводимая с февраля 2021 г.

Grain Market Report-IGC

The first projections for world wheat supply and demand in 2021/22 point to record production and, despite higher consumption, a further accumulation of global stocks. However, the build-up of stocks is again expected to be centred on China and India. An above-average level of trade is predicted, even if not as high as the record of the year before. Russia will potentially export less than in 2020/21, but could remain the largest exporter.

UK millers relieved by no-tariff deal with the EU

The last-minute trade deal between the European Union and the United Kingdom, removing the prospects of tariffs on grain from the start of 2021, came as a huge relief to Britain's flour milling sector. Trade in its raw material (wheat) can, for the most part, continue as normal, although new rules make life more complicated if flour is produced with, for example, Canadian milling wheat.

Grain: World Markets and Trade

In December 2020, the Russian government announced trade-restrictive measures for certain grains and oilseed products in response to high domestic prices. This comes despite record wheat production and near-record production for total grains. Russia was the largest wheat exporter in 2017/18 and 2018/19 and is forecast to rebound to again be the leading exporter for 2020/21, despite these new tradedistorting measures which have pressured global prices higher.
